LEE/SHOEMAKER TEAM COUNSELS ALBAN ENGINEERING IN TRANSACTION WITH RTM ENGINEERING CONSULTANTS

RTM Engineering Consultants, a nationally recognized design firm, has acquired Alban Engineering, a distinguished MEP consulting firm in Hunt Valley, MD.

Alban Engineering specializes in mechanical, electrical, plumbing, lighting design, and sustainability solutions for the K-12, higher education, worship, and public/community facility sectors. Over the last decade, Alban Engineering made a commitment to deliver the highest quality of engineering services and to provide the technical expertise needed to solve unique challenges. RTM and Alban Engineering's shared focus on quality services and client relationships laid the foundation for this strategic merger.

"We are thrilled to be joining forces with RTM," says Jeff Alban, President of Alban Engineering. "This merger presents an exciting opportunity to combine our strengths, leverage shared expertise, and collectively deliver even greater value to our clients."

"We have great respect for the technical expertise possessed by the Alban Engineering team. Their well-established reputation within the educational market is a testament to their wealth of experience and dedication to building lasting client relationships. We are truly privileged to be welcoming them to RTM," says Tony Mirchandani, CEO of RTM Engineering Consultants.

Lee/Shoemaker PLLC counseled Alban Engineering through the transaction. The Lee/Shoemaker team was led by Taylor T. Dolan, Paul E. Knupp, III, and Curtis A. Orshoski. Lee/Shoemaker PLLC is dedicated to representing buyer and seller firms in the architecture and engineering industry in external merger and acquisition transactions as well as internal ownership transitions.
